BUILDING & LOAN SOLD IN RECORD TIME!

Extra Series Issued To Supply People's Demand In Fast Growing Organization

Fifth Series, 1250 Shares, $250,000 Worth Sold in 45-Minutes, 30 Minutes Less Than Secretary Eberstadt's Most Optimistic Predictions—Extra Series of 625 Shares Voted by Special Called Meeting of Directors and Additional $125,000 Stock Sold in 40-Minutes—Crowds Line-up on Stairway As Early as 7 O'clock To Await Sale.

The new Fifth Series, Bryan Building and Loan stock, is sold—is more than sold—6,125 extra shares were subscribed for in addition to the 1,250 that were to be offered this morning; and the entire sale made in an actual time of 1 hour and 25-minutes, by Secretary Sam E. Eberstadt of the Bryan Chamber of Commerce and Building and Loan Association. Eberstadt wrote the receipts and took in the money while M. M. Erskine of the City National Bank manipulating the adding machine and tallied the sales. There were a few waiting on the stairway as early as 7 o'clock this morning and by 8 the steps were filled with people waiting to be sure to get into the sale. No-one was admitted to the Chamber of Commerce rooms and promptly at 8:30 o'clock, the door was opened and people lined up at the table placed across the entrance, planked down their money, got their receipts and left with joy in their hearts that they had been in time. At 9:15, 1333 shares had been sold, 83 more than was contained in the scheduled fifth series. $16,600 more than the required $250,000. At that time there were some 40 or 50 people yet standing on the stairway and clamoring for stock. Something had to be done, and it was.

SPECIAL MEETING CALLED.

Secretary Eberstadt, seeing the emergency and realizing that something should be done, called W. H. Cole, president of the Building and Loan Association at his office in the City National Bank. After having listened to an explanation of the situation, President Cole immediately called a meeting of the directors of the B. and L. which met right away in the Chamber of Commerce office and after about 15 minutes of discussion, decided to increase the fifth series by 6,125 shares, or one-half the amount originally decided upon. The following directors were present and took part in this action: President W. H. Cole, Vice-president H. O. Boatwright; Wilson Bradley, Robert Armstrong, W. S. Higgs, W. S. Barron and Secretary S. E. Eberstadt.

Increase Soon Sold.

The sale re-commenced at 9:30 o'clock and those on the stairway were then taken care of in order and at 10:10 there was not a share of the 1,875 left to be sold. The first sale of the scheduled fifth series required but 45-minutes to sell, while the most conservative estimate of Eberstadt had been 1-hour and 15-minutes. A new record set by this record-breaking official. The additional stock was sold in 40-minutes, making a total selling time of 1-hour and 25-minutes to sell the regular series and one-half more. The total amount sold in that short space of time this morning was 1,875 shares for a total of $375,000. It was all over at 10 minutes after 10 o'clock and 153 people had subscribed stock for an average amount of $2,457 each. The entire sale was put over at not one penny's cost to the association, even the lead pencil having been donated to write out the receipts.

The Why and Wherefore.

This record-breaking sale of stock in a Bryan institution—what is frequently heralded as the biggest institution in the city—was made possible by three things: The worthwhileness of this association to everyone concerned, the stockholder and he who borrows, the institution itself and the city in general, which latter class includes every citizen who resides within it and the surrounding country will also reap a benefit in proportion to their associations with the city; second, by the splendid pre-sale campaign given by Secretary S. E. Eberstadt and the space contributed by loyal local establishments and business houses; and last but not least, by the energy and efficiency of the salesman who conducted the sale, Secretary Sam E. Eberstadt, premier of Chamber of Commerce secretaries.

JAMES POWERS DIED AT HIS HOME KURTEN

Jas. Powers, aged 65 years, died Thursday morning at 1 o'clock at the family home in Kurten, after a lingering illness. Mr. Powers was born in Alabama but came to Texas when a small child and has lived in Brazos county for a number of years. He, at one time, operated a blacksmith shop in Bryan.

Mr. Powers is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mollie Powers, and 1 brother, John Powers, of Orange, Texas. MRS. S. C. JAMISON DEAD AT NORMANTEE

Mrs. S. C. Jamison, aged about 82 years, died at her home in Normangee, Texas, about two o'clock this morning, according to word received in Bryan. Mrs. Jamison was the mother of Mrs. W. S. Collard of this city. She is also survived by the following other children: Mrs. J. B. Collard of Fort Worth; Melo Collard of Eastland; and A. W. George and Buck, all of Normangee. The funeral services will be at the local Baptist church at Normangee, of which she had been a consistent member for many years, on Friday. Burial will take place in the Hopewell Cemetery, the local burying ground near Normangee.

Mrs. Jamison headed a prominent and fine old family of that locality, the Jamison family settling there in the early days and taking a large part in the activities of the first Ku Klux Klan in suppressing the negro race riots and other menaces of the plains country. She has the distinction of representing one of the earliest families settling in one of the first districts ever settled in this vast Lone Star State.

DEMONSTRATION FARM IMPLEMENTS GIVEN IN ASSISTANCE OF A. & M.

Eleven of the foremost implement companies in the country are co-operating with the Extension Service Department of A. and M. College, the latter represented by A. W. Buchanan and M. R. Bentley, both of this city, to put on farm implement demonstrations of one row walking cultivators, riding cultivators, and riding planters with fertilizer distributing attachment, the showings to be scheduled as follows: Tenaha, Tuesday, April 22; Lufkin, Thursday, April 24; Livingston, Saturday, April 26.

Reason for Showing.

The following are some of the purposes of the demonstration and facts in connection with it: These demonstrations will show the various cultivators and planters made by the leading implement manufacturers. They will show the work done by the cultivators in the field cultivating corn. They will show improved riding planters, planting cottonseed and distributing commercial fertilizer at the same time. It will be a rare opportunity to see so many different makes of cultivators and planters in the same field. It will be an opportunity to see how machines built to save man-labor accomplish it.

Good Implements Pay.

The demonstrators hope to show that it pays to use practical improved implements, by saving time and labor. These demonstrations may encourage the use of more improved implements when they can be used economically. Stumps and prejudice are reasons why improved implements are not used in some places. Possibly these demonstrations will remove some prejudice. It may be good business to remove some stumps so as to be able to use improved implements. This will be the biggest demonstration of the kind ever attempted in Texas. The demonstration may be seen without cost or obligation. No implements will be for sale at the demonstration.

TWO LOCAL WOMEN GO FIND SASSAFRAS AND RETURN WITH BOOZE

Two local women residents of Bryan drove out to a certain section of this county on Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of getting roots of the sassafras tree. The ultimate purpose was to make sassafras tea, but they came back with a different kind of "tea" already manufactured. Looking around in the bushes along the creek bank for a tree of the stated denomination, they found him behind a clump of bushes, a two-quart jar filled with a very good brand of moonshine, brown-corn variety. Somebody is the loser of a good drink, perhaps a fine stew. The women returned to town without the sassafras jar, but with two quarts of very valuable—valuable to some people—anti-Volstead spirits. Have you lost anything? Eagle want ad get results.

FORMER CHAMPION OF MIDDLE-WEIGHTS IN LECTURE AT SCHOOL

Tommy Ryan, ex-middleweight champion of the world, who some twenty years ago retired from the squared circle undefeated and unchallenged because there were no more worlds to conquer, was a visitor in Bryan on Thursday, delivering two lectures at the Bryan High School building. The morning address was on "Clean Living," and was given free. In the afternoon, Ryan gave a demonstration of his wonderful strength which he has preserved to his age of 74, through clean living.

This veteran fighter, whose life is now dedicated to the noble task of demonstrating the desirability of leading a clean life, never took a drink of liquor in his life, never used tobacco or indulged in other vices popularly accredited to pugilists. He is a native of Texas, having been born in Williamson county. About 1870 he ran away from home and joined Rice Brothers Circus and later he took a trip around the world with the Harper Expedition.

Tommy Ryan was 74 years old last January, but he scarcely looks 40. In the heyday of his physical abilities he had not only won renown for his fists ability but for his rigid adherence to all the laws of clean living. He is travelling the four corners of the country, appearing in schools in exhibitions of his skill and strength as a supplement to his lecture to boys on the benefits of clean living.

SECRETARY EBERSTADT WILL SPEAK PALESTINE AND LONGVIEW TEXAS

Sam E. Eberstadt, secretary of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce and Bryan Building and Loan Association, will entertain here Thursday night, leaving Friday morning for Longview, Texas, where he will give two or three lectures on the subjects with which he is familiar, on Friday, returning to Bryan at the end of the week.

Several days ago, Leroy Trice, president of the Chamber of Commerce at Longview, called up President Jno. D. Lawrence of the Bryan commercial body on the telephone and requested the services of Secretary Eberstadt on Friday, March 28. President Lawrence accepted the invitation and instructed Mr. Eberstadt to make the trip in courtesy to a fellow-commercial-body.

Yesterday, Friday, W. B. Flanagan of Palestine, formerly of Bryan, called up President Lawrence and asked if Secretary Eberstadt could not stop over in Palestine Thursday night while en route to Longview and give an address there. Mr. Lawrence checked the matter up to Mr. Eberstadt and referred Mr. Flanagan to him. A later call from Mr. Flanagan to Mr. Eberstadt resulted in the latter's acceptance. Our Secretary's book of dates for addresses and lectures is growing quite full as his prominence grows in state commercial circles.

Roxie Stinson's Latest Testimony Hints at Oil Deal Involving $33,000,000 Divided Up Among Five Men—Says Smith and Daugherty Were Sore Because They Were Not Let In on The Deal.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 26.—A hint of an oil deal in which five men made $33,000,000 in the fall of 1922 was brought before the Daugherty Investigating Committee today by Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of Attorney-General Daugherty's friend and political lieutenant, Jess Smith. The witness said that Smith told her of such a transaction and that she understood that it had to do with the stock in the Sinclair interests which had leased Teapot Dome. She added that Smith had said he and Daugherty were sore because the men were friends of theirs, but had not let them in on the deal. She could not name the men implied. She also told the committee that she was convinced that Smith committed suicide, but believed that Daugherty was "morally responsible for his death" and the determination to "kill himself".

Following is the list of those recently registered: E. C. Carter, Steeles Store; Gulf Refining Company, Bryan; Bloose Mondello, Bryan.

FRIENDLY FEELING

Rev. King Vivion, pastor of the First Methodist church at College Station, in an address at a community club meeting at Tabor, Texas, in January, on the subject of an education survey, partially completed in that section, stated that good roads were an essential to better community spirit and progress; that when people could not mix and talk things over, friendly feelings were not promoted, but rather retarded, and there grew up instead of a feeling of friendliness, an inter-community bitterness that was not for the best interests of all concerned. His point was that people should be permitted to meet each other and good points would be found in everyone and a mutual liking formed that would be of mutual advantage.

What is true of communities in the same section is true of more communities that form the country as a whole. Brazos county would profit by better roads and by an increase of friendliness between the several communities and between the city of Bryan and the rural districts. The only way that this friendliness can be fostered is by personal mingling and personal touch. It may be said that the people of the rural sections and the people of the city, both very much alike in fundamentals, are strangers to each other. They have no bond of acquaintance or friendship to bind them together. As a result they are antagonists and rivals, rather than a county working to the same end.

The only personal touch between rural people and city people comes as a rule on Saturdays when the former come to town to trade. The business people are the only ones thus met and then only in an impersonal and business way. This is not to the best advantage in the promotion of friendliness. The only practical manner in which this friendship can be formed is for the town people to go out into the country and mingle with them on their own ground. The best way and the best time is to go out to the community club meetings; not as a spectator merely, but assist them in their efforts to get together on a basis of good-will and constructive entertainment and educational progress.

Don't put it off and procrastinate any longer. You've promised yourself and others that you would do this; you haven't and you're no closer to doing it than you were at the time you said it. Promises are like chaff in the wind—the seed has to be planted before we get any production. You can see the point of this article, but will you act? Of course we are all lazy but the business men of the city could easily corner much trade by fostering a friendly feeling with their rural patrons—show appreciation of the rural folks themselves as well as their business. Now is a good time to go out and help them play and arrange for their community clubs. To assist them in making a success of their pie socials and box suppers, the proceeds of which always go to worthy causes. Will you do this? Or will you continue to take life easy and let things go along and wait for something to turn up as Micawber did?

LABORED NOT IN VAIN

The Trinity, the Brazos and the Colorado rivers in Texas are among the streams included in a preliminary survey for control of flood waters recommended by the flood control committee of the house at Washington.

The sums for the work are not large, but the engineers deem them adequate. The gratifying thing about the inclusion of the Texas rivers in the survey is the indorsement it infers on the project for the control and utilization of flood waters in these streams, initiated by the last legislature, under the leadership of the late Representative Lee J. Rountree of Bryan.

The legislature's action provided only for a study of what would be needed to consummate the enterprise. A beginning has been made by the State, in conjunction with the Federal geological survey. So that it may be safely assumed that the project is under way.

The completion of these surveys will afford a basis upon which the people can proceed through legislative appropriations, provided for by bonds or special taxes, to impound the flood waters of the several streams which periodically work havoc in the valleys and in the country along the lower stretches.

The movement means the ultimate saving of millions of dollars to the people of Texas. It is a movement that is worthy of the sympathetic co-operation of the people of the whole state, and not only those directly affected by the floods.—Houston Post.

Colonel George M. Bailey, well-known editorial writer of the Houston Post for 20 years past has announced that he has severed his connection with the Post in order to accept more remunerative service elsewhere. We are sorry that Colonel Bailey is not with the Post any longer. To those of us who have been reading the Post for many, many years, we will greatly miss "Morning Observations."

HOME BUILDING

Analysis of the selling of the Bryan Building and Loan stock shows beyond any question of doubt Bryan is interested in home building. This is a healthy sign, for homes are not built unless general conditions are good. Homes are not built by men not certain of continued employment. Home building is based on a steady growth based on prosperity. Home builders are of the best type of citizens, thrifty and productive and the more of this kind of citizens any town has, the better off that town is, and the more assured the prosperity. Make Bryan the City of Home Owners, whether they be big homes or little ones, and all other enterprises will continue to come our way.

SATISFACTION AND SPEED IN SERVICE RENDERED BY EAGLE WANT ADS

The service of the Eagle want advertisement was never more ably demonstrated than on Wednesday. The ad never appeared in the paper. The lost article was located by the editorial staff and the party furnished the information on the telephone. You just have to mention the needs in the way of classified advertising around the printing office and it is located—often without use of printers' ink.

W. R. Thomas, of The Fair Store, stated, early in the morning, that he could not give the name of the street he lived on—that the city map showed no name for that street and he wished that he knew it. The want ad editor thought this looked like a good "lost" story and that there were possibilities in it. He got in touch with City Manager E. E. McAdams, and it was finally run down. It seems that the official map of the A. C. L. Hill addition, in which the Thomases reside, gives the name of the street, but in some way it was omitted when copy was transferred to the city map. The editor called Mr. Thomas up on the telephone and informed him that he lived on "Banks Avenue." Mr. Thomas was very grateful to have at last learned where he lives.

On a promise of fair and impartial conduct of the office, if elected, I ask the support and the votes of the people at the July primary. I am seeking the office of Commissioner for Brazos County for Precinct Number 2.

Though born in Bowie county, in East Texas, I have lived in Brazos county for 39 years, 14 of which has been a continual residence in the Kurten community. PIE SOCIAL AT STEEP HOLLOW IS POSTPONED FOR SIXTH STRAIGHT TIME

Last November the "Steep Hollow Smiles," the girls home demonstration club at Steep Hollow, planned a pie social at the school. Up to the present time that pie social has been called off just six times due to rains and bad roads. Perhaps the seventh time will be the charm—no one can tell. H. D. Cuykendall of the Bryan Eagle drove out to Steep Hollow Saturday night, expecting to attend the social there, but, owing to bad roads, no crowd had gathered. Mr. Cuykendall had taken with him the certificates to be given to the club girls, but had to bring them back. Miss Laura Belle Roten, county home demonstration agent, who was to have presented the certificates, was unable to make the trip on account of illness. Mr. Cuykendall spent a social evening and in "42" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben M. Foster at Steep Hollow where a few of those intending to attend the pie social had gathered.

NO. 2 CUTHRELL TEST WELL SPUDDED IN

NAVASOTA, Mar. 24.—The No. 2 test of the Cuthrell oil interests spudded in on the Cuthrell lease near Carlos in the Navasota district today. The new test, which makes a total of four now drilling here, is located only a few hundred feet from the first test of the same company. In the first hole an oil and gas sand was found at a depth of around 2,800 feet and the well blew in as a gasser and ran wild for several days before it choked. The first test was never completed on account of a string of tools being lost when it blew in. Rotary equipment is being used to drill to the sand, but when it is reached standard tools will be substituted.

EMMETT HOLLAND FOR COMMISSIONER PRECINCT NUMBER 2

I take this means of announcing to the voters of District No. 2, Brazos county, my candidacy for Road Commissioner. I am running at the request of my friends and those who feel that the upper end of our district is entitled to the commissioner, as it has been fifteen or twenty years since the Edge end of the district had a commissioner. I want every one to know that my running is not a protest against our present commissioners. He is a good man and has done his best under the conditions he is working under. I am running only because the voters of our part of the district feel we are entitled to the commissioner. They feel that turn about is fair play.

If I am elected I will attend to the business of the county with the same care and efficiency as I have always exercised in my own private business. I also pledge myself to give every part of the District a fair deal. I will not neglect one part of the District for another part. Very cordially yours, EMMETT HOLLAND, Edge, Texas.

"Where Values Reign Supreme"

The above is the winning name for the new Millinery and Ready-to-Wear Department of the Fair. The $16.95 Silk Dress to be given to the one submitting the most suitable name, according to the judges in the contest, was won by—

She also submitted with her name the slogan given above which will be the slogan of this department of The Fair.

The Fair management is very well pleased with the result of this Naming Contest. Hundreds of names were submitted, not only from Bryan and adjacent territory, but from the outlying districts of Brazos county and even from trade territory in other nearby counties.

Not only was an appropriate name selected which describes this department, names it; and implies, through its slogan the economy of purchasing through this department and obtaining quality at the same time, but the management has, from the contributions, received many valuable suggestions for future advertising that will be worth much to The Fair.

The Management is glad to tender this gift or prize to the winner and hopes that the new Millinery and Ready-to-Wear Department will enjoy the visits of the fair sex of the section and will continue to merit their patronage as time goes by.

SPLENDID MEETING LITERARY SOCIETY AT EDGE FRIDAY NIGHT

The Edge Literary Society met on Friday night in regular session and a splendid and enjoyable evening was spent in amusement and instructive entertainment. County Agent C. L. Beason and H. D. Cuykendall of the Bryan Eagle motored out, and, assisted by P. S. Mangum, principal of the Edge schools, put on the evening's program. The meeting was called to order by President Maud Moore at 8 o'clock, with the following other officers seated on the stage: Norman McDonald, vice president; Ruth Hill, secretary, and P. S. Mangum, critic, also present.

Entertainment numbers of the evening were: Three readings and a monologue by H. D. Cuykendall of the Eagle, who was also assisted by C. L. Beason in a duet, "I Bought a Goat." He introduced a chalk-talk that will be given on a later date on the subject, "Reading." He talked at some length on the work of the Eagle management in putting out a better Weekly Eagle through its community service and its addition of all actively contributing rural correspondents representing every section of the county; and the school circulation campaign being waged this month through all schools of the county.

Beason On Club Work.
County Agent C. L. Beason talked at some length on the boys' and girls' club work and held up mentally for observation the many large prizes being offered for the winning clubs and individuals. But, greater than all is the great good that comes to each member participating whether he gets in on the prizes or not. And Edge wants the Delco lighting plant, can use it right now for their schools and they want a new piano, though the latter prize has not yet been put up by any firm. Mr. Beason made an earnest talk for co-operation of all and hard work on the part of every member to put this prize-winning club over for Brazos county. His talk was enlarged upon by Mr. Mangum who spoke briefly on the local situation, urging the parents to permit and enforce 100 per cent attendance at every club meeting.

Perhaps the feature of the evening was the debate on the subject, "Resolved that a Redbug is a greater pest than a Bedbug." The affirmative was taken by H. D. Cuykendall and the negative by P. S. Mangum, with Mr. Beason a rooster on the side lines to help whatever side he thought needed the assistance of himself. However, after Mr. Cuykendall and Mr. Mangum had glowingly and in most ardent terms outlined the degrees of havoc displayed by each of the respective animals under dispute, Mr. Beason contended that he thought they had missed the heart of the apple and he submitted his greatest pest as a wheelbarrow.

Judges Have Own Opinions.
The judges retired to render a verdict. They reported later and Will Henry gave the decision that no side yet presented had won, that he thought it should be given to the flea, that it seemed the worst pest to him. He was not bothered about its board bill, but he objected to paying the travelling expenses. But another member of the judging committee, Miss Octavia Morrison, declared she had differed from the other judges and her vote went to a "woman's tongue." The third judge, Will Hill, made his report and gave the decision to an entirely different point. He said that what he considered the greatest pest, and the one that had been hardest for him to get rid of, was "the itch."

The meeting closed following a five-minute period when talks were made for the good of the society by Messrs. Beason and Cuykendall.

Very Good Attendance.
Following is the list of those present at the meeting: C. L. Beason, county agent; H. D. Cuykendall, of the Bryan Eagle; J. W. LUTHER A. JOHNSON FOR RE-ELECTION AS U. S. REPRESENTATIVE

The Bryan Daily Eagle is in receipt of a letter from Hon. Luther A. Johnson, congressman for the 6th congressional district, requesting his name be placed in the announcement columns of the paper for re-election as U. S. Representative for this district.

Mr. Johnson's legislative duties did not begin until the convening of the present Congress, in December last, giving him, therefore, only a little more than two months service in the halls of Congress.

He is serving upon four committees, namely: Civil Service, Labor, Pensions and Flood Control, the last assignment having come to his appointment recently. Shortly after his appointment thereto, this committee reported a bill authorizing preliminary survey for flood control on four Texas Rivers, namely: Brazos, Trinity, Colorado and Guadalupe.

Much Value to Texas.
This bill does not appropriate a large sum of money, but its chief value would be to authorize the use of the surveys heretofore made by the Federal Government when these streams were sought to be made navigable. This information possessed by the Federal Government, without this law, is not available, and will be worth a great deal to Texas and its citizens in any effort made to survey the streams with reference to flood control.

Mr. Johnson has sought to serve his constituents in the departmental work, and to comply with all requests with promptness and efficiency.

Won First Fight.
Hon. Luther Johnson won his first fight in Congress recently, after delivering his maiden speech, the House adopting his amendment by a vote of 98 to 87. The amendment was to the pending revenue bill so as to exempt from taxation "all benevolent mutual life insurance associations not operated for profits, whose business is purely local and wholly for the benefit of its members."

The victory was not won without a battle for the amendment was opposed by the ways and means committee. Chairman Green first raised a point of order on the ground that the amendment was not germane, but withdrew it as he said to save time, "since the amendment will be defeated anyway." With that the new member from Texas gained the floor and tersely pointed out that these mutual associations, a number of which are operated in many localities in Texas and elsewhere, furnish aid and relief for those unable to carry regular life insurance. He explained that as operated as assessment of $1.10 is made on the death of a member and of this $1 goes to the bereaved family and the 10 cents assessed for operating expenses. It was his contention that such associations could not be operated if forced to pay taxes, citing the fact that the government is seeking to collect $2000 in Texas from the Home Benefit association of Hillsboro. Several other Texans, including Representatives Blanton and Hudspeth, rallied to the support of their colleague and when the vote was called the amendment was adopted.

NEW HOUSE FOR BRYAN

The new brown brick veneer home of James Godwin located in Western Heights, at the end of West 26th Street, is nearing completion. An unusual feature of this home will be an athletic room or gym with slide pole from rear upper porch to ground, as fire stations have, for children's pleasure. There will be trellised pergolas on either end of the house. The grounds, comprising a block, are enclosed in a border of hedge and have been set with fifty shade and fruit trees, also shrubbery, ivy, climbing roses, etc., a space being reserved for tennis and basketball courts, also playground equipment, without which no home having children is complete, said Mr. Godwin.

BRIEF MEETING OF THE CHAMBER COMMERCE

City Manager E. E. McAdams reported at the regular Tuesday morning meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, today at the commercial rooms, that he had received a communication from W. R. Scott, president of the Southern Pacific Railway, that he expected to visit Bryan in a short time. The other features of the brief 30-minute session today was the resume of the trip of the Lafayette to the West Indies, given by one of those who enjoyed the voyage, Mayor Tyler Haswell. He said that an interesting feature was that he found a live and active chamber of commerce in every town visited, even the smaller ones. The rest of the time was devoted to committee reports and discussions of them.

No Waste of Time.

The meeting was called to order promptly at 9:30 o'clock by the president, John M. Lawrence, and closed at 10:00 in accordance with the will of the business men for attendance at the morning service of the union revival.

Mr. Barker was born in Brazos county, at Millican, some half-hundred years ago and this is his first visit to Bryan in many years. He was very much impressed with its growth and progressiveness and expressed himself as much pleased with his visit here. Bob Barker is one of the best known men in Texas and has always taken an active part in the politics of the state. He served as chief clerk of the Legislature for sixteen years and has held other offices of trust.

SUNDAY IS A WONDERFUL DAY AT THE GREAT UNION REVIVAL SERVICES CONDUCTED AT THE BAPTIST TABERNACLE BY ERNEST J. THACKER

Sunday was one of the most interesting days that Bryan has ever known from a religious standpoint. Tremendous congregations filled the Tabernacle at the morning and evening services and the song and decision service in the afternoon also brought out a large attendance. Scores were turned away at the night service, unable to gain admittance to the Tabernacle. At the morning service Dr. Thacker spoke on "The Perfect One," emphasizing especially the perfect character of Jesus and the perfect nature of His redeeming works. In this sermon, as in all others Dr. Thacker has preached in Bryan, there was marked the passionate exaltation of Christ rather than the magnifying of self, or the recounting of wonderful things accomplished through his own labors.

At the evening hour, in the strongest sermon of the revival thus far, Dr. Thacker surpassed even his own high standard. His theme was, "Is There a Hell, or Magnifying the Love of God." Taking his text from the Gospel of Matthew, "These shall go away into everlasting punishment but the righteous into life eternal," the evangelist said that the words everlasting and eternal were each the same Greek words, both meaning everlasting, and that there could be no doubt as to just what Jesus meant to say. While the speaker used chaste and conservative language throughout his discourse, there was voiced his emphatic belief in a hell as a place of future punishment for the wicked and the unbelieving. Hell, said the evangelist, is a necessity from four standpoints: (1) From the standpoint of immortality. Various forms of proof were given to show universal immortality. Granted that this is true, the speaker also stressed the fact that the chief end of man was to be remade into the image of God. Life is the only possible time for this. Even scientists teach that death only dissolves the body, it in no way affects the character of the soul. Unless men use their lifetime in this world to be cleansed of sin and freed from its power, the very constitution of their natures proves that they go out into a life where God and holiness is not, and this is hell. (2) Hell is a necessity from the standpoint of law. Every physical law has attached to it a penalty for its violation. The whole of nature is continually demonstrating this truth. - Spiritual laws are not different from physical in this respect. Violated they always entail penalty. When continually violated and the soul passes out into eternity unrepentant, the penalty for the broken law of God goes on and on. I do not say, declared the speaker, that hell is a literal lake of fire, but for my part I had rather stand in a fearful fire and little by little have the last vestige of my physical frame consumed in the flames than to endure forever beyond this life the unending tortures of conscience. (3) Hell is a necessity from the standpoint of love. There is nothing so winsome or wonderful as love, and yet when a pure self-sacrificing love is outraged and spurned, there is always a moral penalty required of the one upon whom that love has been bestowed. There is nothing so wonderful as the love of God but when that love is spurned and outraged by the sinner its very rejection brings on a fearful moral loss and a hopeless state of soul. A drunken wretch coming in from a night's debauch, took a pistol and shot his beloved and faithful wife. Rolling in her own blood on the floor she whispered to her demented husband, "I forgive you this awful deed." His only answer was to kick the prostrate, bleeding form in which life soon expired. Then he took the pistol and ended his own life. "Where did that man go," cried the evangelist, "I don't know, but he went somewhere, and that somewhere was hell." (4) Hell is a necessity from the standpoint of the atoning death of Christ. How could God have given His only begotten Son and allowed Him to suffer on the cruel cross if there was no such dreadful place as a hell from which repentant men must be delivered. The evangelist dwelt on this point with great power, and in a conclusion of great tenderness dwelt on the love of God in providing man a Savior.

The services will continue this week at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. each day. The visible results so far have been a large number of reconsecrations among the membership of all the churches, the transfer of a considerable number of church letters and about sixty conversions. In this latter number each of the five churches co-operating are represented, but the greater number by far have expressed preference for the Baptist and Methodist church and is thus naturally due to their preponderant numerical strength in the community. There is a great blessing to be had in all these services by people of all denominations and it is hoped that the second week of the meeting will develop even greater interest than the first.

GEESSE GO NORTH AND SPRING IS NOW HERE

They say that when geese move northward it is a sure sign of the breaking-up of winter and the advent of spring. Last night they passed over Bryan in large flocks, their honking being plainly audible, even within walls. However, they were flying low, which is an indication that they

BRAZOS COUNTY BOYS AND GIRLS CLUB DEPARTMENT

Club Notes and Farm News by County Agent C. L. Beason

Brazos County Poultry.

Austin, Texas, March 18: "During the month of February, Texas delivered to Chicago, 15,798 cases of eggs and 370,790 pounds of dressed poultry, according to reports of the Chicago office of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, released thru the state-federal market news service at this point." Fifteen thousand and seven hundred and ninety-eight cases of eggs and 370,790 pounds of dressed poultry is quite an item for the poultry industry of Texas to be contributing to the menu of one northern city. To the producers, it has meant the distribution of about a quarter of a million dollars, while, perhaps, to the consumer it has meant the parting with quite a good deal more "kale." At any rate, it goes to show, if we will but stop to think, what an immense industry the poultry business is, and the half has not yet been told. County Agent C. L. Beason states that in his younger days, among the flint-covered hills of old Alabama, chicken was a rarity and was enjoyed only when the preacher would come, and having to always eat at the second table. The county agent further declares he was far into the "teens" before he knew a chicken had anything but "a neck and a foot." But now it is quite different the country over. Everybody eats chicken. It's fried chicken for breakfast, its good old chicken pie for dinner—we still insist that "dinner" is the noonday meal—and it is giblets for supper. No wonder we have pleasant dreams of baby chicks and cackling hens are the "cock's shrill clarion" gives signal each morn for the beginning of the greatest industry in American. Let us make it truly so in Brazos county.

Dairy Goods Improved.

U. S. Department of Agriculture states that "eighteen million pounds, net, of butter and 64 million pounds of cheese were imported during 1923." Hence, it would appear that our dairy industry has not yet reached its necessary production.

Assessment of Purebreds.

Farm and Ranch quotes the Department of Agriculture as saying, "Purebred cattle should be assessed little, if any, higher than grade cattle for the purpose of local taxation, lest someone be discouraged in keeping good cattle, which are of considerable value to a community on account of their ability, in most cases, to improve the common stock and thus increase the wealth of the community," and adds "a scrub sire is a menace to the prosperity of any community."

Brazos Is Not Beaten.

In speaking of the Mason County Commercial Community Club, state champion for 1923, Mrs. J. W. Baird, staff writer for the Semi-Weekly Farm News, has the following to say, "I wish every girl and boy in the state could see these books—this written biography of a successful community club. They are so filled with the real community spirit. The kind of spirit that can transform a collection of people into a family-like band of united friends working with and for one another." Mrs. Baird quotes the secretary of the club as saying, "This is our senior club leader, Miss Sadie Westbrook, also the principal of our school for the last ten years. She is the backbone of our whole community, always helping us when we need help and encouraging us when we are ready to give up. She is interested in every one and is always helping others to succeed." It will be remembered that this is the club that beat Brazos county, the Edge Blue Ribbon 40, by 19-23 of one per cent, but "by golly" we are not defeated. We are after that Delec light plant and our share of the Holland $1,000 prize. This is to serve notice to all.

Where Does Brazos Stand?

Press reports state business men of Tyler will offer $2,500 to the farmers of Smith county for greater acreage production this year; $500 will be offered in Gregg county; $1,500 in Freestone; $1,000 in Ellis, and various amounts in many other counties. Such encouragement will tend to stimulate better methods and greater interest in all farming operations.

Railroad Trips In Store.

The National Boys and Girls Club News, published by the National Committee on boys' and girls' club work, G. L. Noble, secretary, Chicago, states that 20 of the large railroads held a conference on February 29 to discuss plans whereby a more permanent policy for aiding boys and girls club movement might be adopted. It is said that a number of railroads represented at this conference were keenly interested in the plan of awarding educational trips to the National Boys' and Girls' Congress, held annually at Chicago. A later meeting was called to determine definite plans, which will then be announced to clubs throughout the country. In the meantime, let the boys and girls in Brazos county "saw wood."

200 Eggs—153 Chicks.

Florine Lang, poultry club member at Kurten, had one of the best reports made at the last meeting of that club. She reported 153 fine baby chicks from an incubation of 200 eggs. That was a splendid record, and here's hoping your every effort, Florine, will be met with the greatest success.

Harvey Martin Won Dollar.

Harvey Martin of the Edge club sends in the best story of the week on club work and, therefore, wins the cash prize of one dollar. A good deal of Harvey's story is devoted to the poultry project of his sister; hence, we are wondering whether or not he will "divide" profits. Come on, club members, with your story, or letter, about your club work, either what you are doing or plan to do, or what your club as a whole is doing, or is planning to do. Best letter sent in each Saturday will win $1 cash prize. Who is next?

Value of Club Work.

The National Boys and Girls Club News quotes Percival P. Baxter, Governor of Maine, as saying, "Of all the work being done in this country for the rising generation, none is of more vital importance than that known as the Boys' and Girls' Club Work carried on under the supervision of the Extension departments of our agricultural colleges. Today, more than ever before, the people of this country realize the necessity of proper training for those engaged in agricultural pursuits. To be successful, farmers must study their problems as carefully as do manufacturers and those engaged in commerce."

A Word Does It.

"Which weeds are the easiest weeds to kill?" asked the city chap of the farmer. "Widow's weeds," replied the farmer, "you have only to say 'wilt thou?' and they wilt."—The Lyre.

Every Day Looks Alike.

The county agent could not be in his office last Saturday afternoon for the simple reason that the farmers were so interested in terracing they would not let the county agent off. But it was all right. The smile that came over Charlie Schram's face as he saw a plan by which his land would be kept from washing away, was worth all the county agent did. When A. T. Dittfurth saw the Martin ditcher throwing up the pretty terraces, he said, "I could do this kind of work all the week," evidently for the land's sake. That is all right, gentlemen, Saturday afternoon looks just like any other part of the day when you talk "terracing." Furthermore, we have been told that the Good Book says, "Six days shalt thou labor," not five or four and a half. The work done on Charlie Schram's farm last Saturday afternoon will be worth $100 to him each year for the next five years.

WELLBORN WRITE-UPS

(Special to Bryan Daily Eagle.)

WELLBORN, Mar. 26.—The young folks of this community are having a most enjoyable time. When they wish to have a party they get a good crowd; all go together and storm someone. We find the hostesses very kind. Saturday night the young folks stormed Mr. and Mrs. Homer Beal, though it was very muddy. Every one had a good time. Those present were: Messrs. Irwin and Lamar Carroll and Henry Gandy of Rock Prairie; Messrs. Joe Norwood, Rupert Barron, A. R. Parker, Rose Logan, Wymond Barron, Ari Logan, I. E. Every one had a wonderful time.

Rev. Tatum filled his regular appointment at the Free Baptist church Sunday at 11 o'clock, at which time he delivered a wonderful message.

As you judge, you will be judged and people judge from ancestors, or the world judges a community from the boys and girls that go out of it, whether good or bad. This is very true. If we would only watch we will find we are guilty. Let's every one try to have the best community.

The Sunday school is coming to the front. We have wonderful attendance and would be so glad for every one to come. We need you very much. A special invitation to one and all.

HARVEY HAPPENINGS

(Special to Bryan Daily Eagle.)

HARVEY, Mar. 27.—At last we have had two beautiful spring days in succession, which renews hope in the farmers, and they are doubtless taking advantage of the sun shine to run their plows. We are hoping for a better grain crop this year. All of our Harvey farmers have been forced to buy feed all winter for their stock and to run the tenants for the coming year, which makes farming a very expensive pastime.

Ernest Garvin, a worthy colored citizen and real good carpenter, had the misfortune to lose all of his tools in a house he was helping to build in Reliance last week, about $90 worth. The house was burned down just as it was completed. The work of an incendiary, it was thought. Ernest was frequently employed by citizens of Bryan and College Station, who doubtless will be sorry to learn of his calamity.

The show that was to have been held here tonight at the school house 'dividing profits with the school, passed us by and went to Steep Hollow. Dr. Davidson has just had a new lawn fence put up across the front lawn, which will greatly add to the looks of his place when he gets the old one removed, and also gives more parking room, as the old fence was so close to the road, and forced people to enter the home from the side gate instead of front.

The Angel of Life visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Etheridge last Thursday night, and gave into their custody another son. We all welcome the little stranger and wish for him a long, useful and happy life. His arrival makes for sturdy boys and three lovely girls for that family.

Sam Jones left last week for Alabama to visit relatives and friends. He will be gone for an indefinite time.

Miss Laura Belle Roten visited the school Tuesday and issued certificates to four of her club girls, who have finished the first year work in sewing and cooking, namely: Iris Dyess, Imogene Kincaannon, Maud Jones and Hazel Kelley.

(Special to Bryan Daily Eagle.)

SMETANA, Mar. 27.—The farmers of our community began planting corn Monday morning. They hope to get every grain in the ground while the weather is good.

few years ago, and will be remembered by his boyhood friends as a cheerful fellow.

RELIANCE RECORD

(Special to Bryan Daily Eagle.)
